Dear Randi,

When Debbie and I first saw Wentworth Shores we immediately decided to buy it. Shortly after the exaltation of the purchase subsided, we were faced with the frightening task of completing the house; i.e., coordinating with the builders, supervising the progress, choosing flooring, fixtures and furnishing the premises - all long distance. Even given the time, such a task would be overwhelming. But as Debbie and I work every available hour in our own professions, the task was not just overwhelming; it seemed impossible. However, the project was accomplished. The flooring was chosen. The fixtures were picked. Colors were coordinated. Windows were decorated. Furniture was purchased and delivered. The audio/visual system was installed. Accessories were even strategically placed to add charm to an already charming home.

The project was completed effortlessly. Debbie and I never concerned ourselves with brusque builders, uncertain delivery dates or any of the normal difficulties associated with the completion of such a project. Our home is absolutely breath-taking and we never had a crisis. We never lost a day in the office or had a concern about the project's completion. One may wonder how this could be possible. The answer is really quite simple. We retained you; and our decision could not have been more correct.

From the very initial construction stages through to making certain that our home had sufficient color coordinated towels for our first stay, you exhibited the professionalism, trustworthiness and acuity that could only produce the stunning results that you created for us at Wentworth Shores.

As our home grew and evolved, likewise did our respect, admiration and affection for you as a professional and as an individual. You personally made the transition into our house and into Moultonboro pleasant experiences that are rarely enjoyed during the construction and move into a new home and town. As a direct result of your efforts, Wentworth Shores has truly been a haven for us right from the start. Debbie, Bryan and I are in your debt.

Sincerely,

Paul
